BARELY A QUORUM.

Important School Board Business Delayed by Small Attendance.

President Sutherland Names His Committee—Teachers Not Appointed.

The school board was bothered last night by a shortage of members. Only four—Commissioners Sutherland, McLean, Kneff and Wilson—answered when the roll was called. Had there been a full board the staff of teachers for next year would have been made up as Superintendent Keyes had his list ready to report.

When the meeting was called to order President Sutherland announced his committee for the ensuing year as follows:

Finance—Wilson, Kneff and McLean. Building—Smith, Kneff and McLean. Visiting committee—Kneff, Smith and Stevens.

Clark Metcalf reported that there was in the treasury $11,700. On motion of Commissioner Wilson the clerk's salary was fixed at $250. The clerk and the president were authorized to sign orders for superintendents, teachers' and other salaries until June 30.

Superintendent Keyes reported that Miss Draper had been obliged to withdraw from school work on account of sickness in the family and that Miss Belle McCulloch had been employed to fill the vacancy.

Before the meeting adjourned a resolution introduced by Commissioner Wilson was adopted ordering the purchase of a desk and filing cabinet for the use of the clerk. The desk and cabinet are to be kept in the council chamber, and hereafter teachers and janitor's salaries are to be drawn at the council chamber.

The resolution further provided that the clerk present his order book at each meeting of the board and verify the proceedings.

As there was much important business requiring the consideration of the full board the date of the next meeting was fixed at Wednesday night.

A JANESVILLE CREAMERY.
Shortell & Hanthorn Will be Ready to Handle.

The Business Men's Club's action has resulted in a creamery firm being organized in this city. The firm is that of Shortell & Hanthorn. George A. Shortell and George Hanthorn are the members.

Mr. Shortell went to Fort Atkinson yesterday and ordered from the Fort Atkinson factory one thousand dollars' worth of machinery to be shipped at once. This, together with the machinery already in place will make the plant worth very nearly two thousand dollars.

The creamery is to be located in Shortell's ice cream factory, there being ample accommodations. Yats, centrifugal separators, butter workers, a sugar steam churn and a small test churn are expected Thursday and will be put in place at once.

Two teams will be sent out on the road Monday and this number will be increased as needed. There seems to be no reason why the new enterprise should not be a complete success.

GOING TO THE JURY.
The Kluber-McClard Case Ended—Haddies and Northwestern.

Attorney Olin's eloquence drew well at the court house to-day. It flowed in a continual stream from early in the morning until half past three in the afternoon. Mr. Olin's speech was the last in the famous Kluber-McClard case, and shortly after half past three the case went to the jury.

The circuit court is now at work on the case of Haddies against the Northwestern road. Fathers, Jeffries & Smith appear for the plaintiff; and James G. Jenkins and William Rucker for the defendant. A conspicuous figure in the court room is little Charley Haddies, who was brought in between his father and mother about three o'clock.

BECK'S TRIAL BEGUN.
The Spring Valley Arson Case Now Being Heard.

William Beck sat as defendant in Judge Peterson's court to-day. He seemed to take things easily as though the charge of arson bothered him very little.

Impassioned a jury took most of the forenoon. When it was finished court adjourned until half-past one. The jurors sworn were Volney Atwood, Adam Wilson, Charles Tall, Samuel Clemens, O. D. Ester, Stephen Chase, P. Ford, H. Halverson, John C. Stanton, J. B. Engle and C. W. Whittier.

When court opened this afternoon Acting District Attorney W. G. Wheeler started the case to the jury and complainant Tracy was then sworn. Mr. Tracy is still on the stand as we go to press.

THE WEATHER.

JANESVILLE BEAUTIES.

Some of the Leading Attractions of the Bower City.

Points Noted by an Oshkosh Northwestern Correspondent.

JANESVILLE, May 5.—In a former letter I stated that the wells in and around this city reached a depth of from fifty to three or four hundred feet. On further inquiry, I find I was mistaken. The fact is, that wells in this vicinity, unless very near the river, are seldom less than fifty feet deep, and frequently reach a depth of one hundred and fifty feet or more.

Janesville certainly improves on acquaintance, and though not as large as some other Wisconsin cities, can hold her own with any of them in other respects. Her residences are not only tasteful, but a large proportion are really elegant; her streets are well graded and well shaded. She has a public library of several thousand volumes, located in pleasant and commodious rooms, which is liberally patronized, showing that Janesville is a decidedly literary city; and the numerous fine private libraries, some of which your correspondent has had the pleasure of examining, testify to the culture of the people.

Now, how can there be more charming walks and drives than in and around the Bower City. From the hills one gets a view of the entire city and beyond are "green hills far away" while Rock river with its high banks winds in and out, overshadowed by trees, now lying stygian feet and again shining in the distance. Here is no monotony and dead level but constant and delightful variety in the landscape. In a place so replete with natural charms, there must of necessity be many suitable spots for "camping out" and summer resorts, and those nearest the city and most popular are the Popena springs and Crystal springs. The former, is located on the river bank three and one-half miles north of the city and boasts of several tasteful cottages, daisies, pavilions, etc. The scenery here should be seen to be appreciated. A high range of hills slopes toward the river ending in a level plain of thirty or more acres lying along the river bank. Through this runs a spring brook of the purest and coldest water in all this region. The music of the water as it ripples over the stones or dashes down a small cascade is soothing and delightful at all times, but must be especially charming in summer. Across the river rises a steep and rocky ledge nearly a hundred feet high and picturesque in the extreme. Many improvements at this most beautiful resort are now in progress, as well as at Crystal Springs.

It may be of interest to note that the present owner of the Popena Springs is one of the oldest residents of southern Wisconsin, having arrived here November 14, 1835, two days later taking up a claim of the firm which has since been his home. At that time the site of the present city of Janesville was a wilderness, and was the last claim made between the state line and Koshkonong, air line distance twenty-two miles, and was made in the spring of 1836. Mr. James, the founder of Janesville, being unable to secure a claim elsewhere in the vicinity, was practically forced to select the present site for the proposed county seat, and the result proved the selection most fortunate in every respect, for aside from being central, a more picturesque location could hardly have been found.

In writing of the attractions of the Bower city there is one feature which, even to an Oshkosh visitor, is peculiarly striking. Whether this feature is due to the great depth of wells or the three miles between the city and the springs before mentioned, it is impossible to say, but the feature referred to is striking and conspicuously prominent. Brandy, beer, wine, whiskey and similar signs occur so often and at such short intervals, one passes along the streets that one is constrained to believe a large portion of the community must needs live, not like the old woman of Mother Goose lore "on victuals and drink" but on drink alone. Better take in the eggs.

HOW BAKING POWDERS ARE MADE.
While rival companies are disputing as to what ingredients are to be found in the best baking powder, the public are interested in the following definition of those now indispensable articles as given by Appleton's Cyclopaedia, the acknowledged American authority.

"The best baking powders are composed of bicarbonate of potash (cream of tartar) and carbonate of ammonia, and a little starch."

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARILLA WRIGHT CUTTIS.

Mrs. Marilla Wright Cuttis was born at Hanover, N. H., December 16th, 1808. She became a Christian very early in life; studied at Plainfield academy, and spent several years in teaching; had an intense desire to become a foreign missionary, but it was before ten days when she was considered proper for a single lady to enter a foreign field.

She was married Sept. 7, 1829 to Rev. Otis F. Cuttis, also of Hanover, N. H., sharing his labors in a pastoral charge of nearly fifty years. Six of these years were spent in northern Vermont, enjoying a constant succession of revivals which in those days were almost an unheard of thing. But the missionary spirit possessed them, and in Sept. 1835, they started for the then far west.

A long weary journey to Canton, Ill. In 1836 they were in Chicago, when that city was but a small village, doing pioneer pastoral work there, and afterwards in Wisconsin in Kenosha, Racine, Waukegan, Milwaukee, Shepore and Emerald Grove; and later, among the Swedes Indians in New York, Dover, Ill., and Avoca, Wis.; carrying with them the revival spirit so signally blessed in early days.

As the wife of a pioneer home missionary she had a large experience of the privations and joys of the missionary service. She had so coveted all her life. She prayed for a son, that he might be a missionary of Christ to the heathen; and her first-born, Joseph, dedicated his young life, and studied hard to fit himself as missionary; but died at the age of ten, and his death was regarded by his brother to take up the work that he must lay down.

It was touching to see her joy as one after another of her boys made choice of the gospel ministry, and afterwards direct missionary service; and later on to see several of the grand children imbued with the like spirit. Her sympathies were warmly enlisted in the anti-slavery movement as a very early child, as well as in cases of temperance. Of the eight children granted them five are still living and four were privileged to be with her in her last sickness.

After her husband's death she returned to Emerald Grove, for several years, but in 1860 she died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louis Maria Chase, she entered peacefully into rest, shortly after twelve on the morning of May 1st, 1888, at the ripe age of eighty-eight. Her last words were, "My God, Thy staff they comfort me." Truly, "many shall rise up to call her memory blessed." The funeral services were held in the new Congregational church at Emerald Grove, Saturday, May 6th, Rev. W. C. Stanton, of Janesville, officiating in the absence of the pastor, Rev. D. B. Jackson. Sermon on the higher altitudes of Christian experience, as illustrated in the life and death of this aged saint. Text, "Ps. 110, 'Create in me a clean heart, O God, and I will sing praises to thy name.'"

The remains were buried in the cemetery at Emerald Grove, and the remains were laid to rest beside her husband in the Emerald Grove cemetery.

DIED, at his late residence in Johnston, May 5th, 1888, James Gentle, Jan. 8, 1818, in Keokuk, Iowa. He was born in Keokuk, Iowa, and came to Janesville in 1834. He emigrated with his parents in 1834 to this country, and resided in Johnston since that time. He was married in January, 1839, to Minnie Morris. Eight children were born to them, five daughters and three sons, all living in Johnston, Iowa. He was one of the most prominent farmers in Johnston, and an extensive land owner and stock raiser. The funeral services were held on Monday at his late residence, and in the church at Johnston, Iowa, and were conducted by Rev. D. B. Jackson, of Emerald Grove. Appropriate music was rendered by the Congregational choir of Emerald Grove. The remains were interred in the cemetery at Johnston, Iowa.

PHILIP BERNARD.
The sudden death of Mr. Philip Bernard at noon yesterday, was a great surprise to his many friends. His death was the result of a little over four days' illness of brain fever. The fore part of last week he was working with his team hauling material for the West Milwaukee street pavement. Thursday morning when he went out to attend to his horses he was taken suddenly and violently ill. He commenced to grow worse until the hour above stated when death relieved him. He was unconscious most of the time.

He leaves a wife and a little six weeks' old babe to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate husband and father. The family will have the sympathy of all in their sad and sad bereavement.

Funeral at St. Patrick's church at nine o'clock Wednesday morning.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

A Special Meeting of the Common Council Held Last Evening for General Business.

The Ring Stone and Carbing on Corn Exchange To Be Removed and Replaced with Blocks.

OTHER BUSINESS CONSIDERED.

A special meeting of the common council was held last evening at the council chamber. Mr. President Fathers in the chair, and all the aldermen being present except Ald. Hanthorn, Judd and McLean.

The clerk presented a number of miscellaneous bills against the various funds, which were referred to the finance committee.

The bonds of J. A. Blount and Chas. B. Church, assessors were referred to the judiciary committee, found correct and approved by the council.

The application and bonds of W. H. Todd and W. H. Henson for saloon licenses, and E. B. Henson for drug permit, were referred to judiciary and license committee, and subsequently reported back as correct, and license was granted.

The license committee also reported in favor of granting licenses to Michael Bomb, South River street, and to John F. Bomb, North River street. Report adopted and licenses granted.

The April report of the judge of the municipal court was presented, referred to judiciary committee, found correct and approved and placed on file.

The April report of the board of education was referred to committee on schools, found correct, ordered published and placed on file.

Ald. Horn, of the highway, street and bridge committee, stated that many of the business men, especially those doing business on West Milwaukee street, favored the removal of the stone curbing and stone cross and side walk on the south side of the corn exchange, and replacing the same with cedar blocks, same as the paving of Milwaukee street, that such work could be done much cheaper at this time than after the street paving had been completed. A drinking fountain is to be erected on the exchange, and with this improvement people with teams would have easy access to the fountain from all directions. There was no opposition to the suggestion, and Ald. Horn introduced an order authorizing the committee to cause the construction of the work as suggested.

Ald. Smith, of the park committee, to whom had been referred the two bids for the construction of the sidewalk on the west end of the court house park, reported that the bid of E. B. Haskell amounted to $93 for the work, while that of A. B. Tonsley, of Belvidere, Ill., would amount to upwards of $105.
